Welcome to the September 2012 Update of the studio news from GIRAFNetwork and its affiliates. We wanted to follow up with everyone since the change of our non profit organization to a regular work for hire graphic design studio. Here are some of our services available for hire.

We provide sequential styles of western and eastern comic art. With an established career of comic and manga creation, we can work with you to produce a comic proposal from your own script or help you plot it out with you. We work with many genres.

Besides penciling, we also do inking work, classic techniques as well as digitally. Our affiliate HeroCentral Studio handles all of our lettering and special effect needs. Our Editors work with comics, prose, and poetry works. Unlike many other small press publishers.

Our writers have experience in working with scripting comics as well as adapting works for comic presentation. They work closely with the artist teams to keep the shared vision of need in the forefront. Our writers also work on prose and ghostwriting works as well. We have been working with several web based and TV groups to storyboard animations and film projects. These services are also available to you.

Production

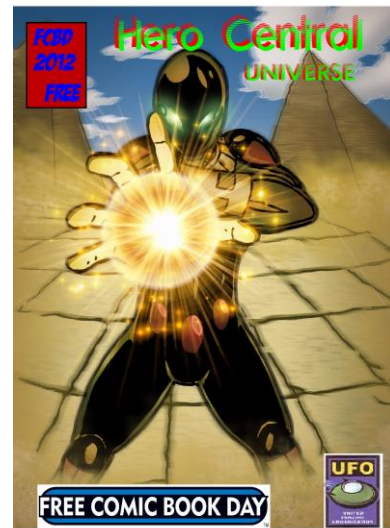

We can work with you and your team on all aspects of the comic production. We can help you make sure that you have everything in publishing specific detail for print hardcopy and online. There are many details to cover to avoid costly mistakes.

Straight from Hero Central Studio! Go to www.herocentral.org and click on the podcast link to hear the latest Bi-monthly explosion of fun. I cover the 5 C's of art...character, comics, creativity, connections & culture.

This interaction shows the connection as a small press artist, freelance graphic designer, writer, and published teacher/professional all rolled into one over the last 15 years. Don't take that for granted. Check us out every month, twice a month at that!!!

Attention everyone! The story in the digital copy of the Free Comic Book day release from this year will be completed in the regular Hero Central Universe series. What that means to you is that time is limited to get the free digital download of this awesome release.

Jade Scarab, Egypt's newest scientist and superhero finds that the alien Orbitals have enslaved Chinese nationals to do their hidden bidding in the form of manufacturing evil!

This release will only be up online until the end of 2012. Once December is over, then the digital freebie will be taken offline. Everyone can then get the conclusion to this awesome story next April 2013. Better Hurry! Download from www.girafnetwork.org !
